

Summer Picnic 2019

Sunday, August 18, 2019

1:00pm to 5:00pm

at the

Armco-Ferro House in Beverly Shores

Beach at the Florida House, Beverly Shores, IN. Photo: S. Ambrose, 2018

- BBQ Luncheon included
- Meet the current homeowners of the Armco-Ferro house and learn about their restoration project
- Exterior tours of other Century of Progress houses with Todd Zeiger of Indiana Landmarks
- RSVP required. Please RSVP by August 14, by email to: info@docomomo-chicago.org
- Directions and more details at: www.docomomo-chicago.org/upcoming-events

Join Docomomo US/Chicago for an exclusive members-only event and "Sunday Funday" on the southern shores of Lake Michigan. Our 2nd annual Summer picnic will be held this year at the historic Armco-Ferro house in Beverly Shores, Indiana.

Built for Chicago's 1933-34 "A Century of Progress" World's Fair, the Armco-Ferro "Mayflower" house was a prototype for an affordable, mass-produced house. Although the design is based on the traditional American four-square, the structure and facade are made almost entirely of steel.

Adjacent to G.F. Keck's House of Tomorrow and the Florida house by R.L. Weed, the Armco-Ferro house is part of a group of houses that were moved to Beverly Shores after the World's Fair concluded and today make up the Century of Progress Architectural District.

Armco-Ferro house. Photo: S. Ambrose, 2015

Armco-Ferro house postcard, 1934